

Where The Money Goes.

One of the hardest things for the individual to recognize is the fact of increasing age with all its infirmities.

About the most difficult matter of comprehension for the average citizen and taxpayer is that it costs more to run a government, municipal, state or nation, of a million or a hundred million people than one of ten thousand. Almost every one will recall the huge outcry (largely for political effect, of course) that went up when Congressional appropriations for the maintenance of the United States Government first totaled close to one billion dollars annually. There was a time when less than one million was enough, and some could not, or would not, grasp the fact that the nation had grown up.

Recently, very recently, there has been some sharp criticism of the cost of maintaining the work of the State Board of Health. The principle complaint seems to be that it is greater than it used to be twenty-five years ago. In the first thirteen and a half months of its existence the work of the board cost $11,405.25. During the twelve months of the year 1914, this cost was $129,012.03, or 13.4 cents for each man, woman and child; white, black, and yellow, in the state of Florida. The cost of the state government per capita was close to $3.87—one cent in every twenty-nine of the entire cost of governing Florida, was expended to conserve the health of its citizens and their hogs.

Now, what has this fund been spent for since March 11, 1889, when the Board came officially into existence?

During the first years of this strenuous existence, quarantine stations had to be built, paid for from the funds of the Board. Next the management of smallpox in the state was made a part of its duties. The wide prevalence of the disease at that time called for an enormous expenditure and it was not until vaccination was generally adopted by the citizens of Florida, to protect the neighbors against the unwise victim of the ailment, that this financial burden was in any measure lifted from the Board, and eventually the reduction of this expense to the state through the agency of vaccination was ninety-nine per cent.

Then came three yellow fever epidemics, two in one year, at Miami and Key West—and in 1905 there was another at Pensacola in which $75,000.00 was needed to meet the demands of the emergency. In 1889 the treasury of the Board was bankrupted from excessive demands on account of smallpox in previous years.

Following this history in a general chronological order, when the Board by economical administration of its affairs had accumulated a fund of some size for a real fight against tuberculosis, the governor of the state and the comptroller diverted $60,000.00 from this accumulation to the Pension Fund.

The legislature some years since, provided for the care and treatment of indigent crippled children of the state, and this most splendid charity has wrought and is working today an untold amount of good, but this provision was made from the funds of the State Board of Health. The sum comparatively is not large, certainly it is small compared with the results accomplished, but it is a material tax upon the funds of the State Board.

In its wisdom, some years ago, the Legislature ruled that the Board, from the fund at its command, must furnish free to the farmers of the state, hog cholera serum. All the farmer had to do was to say he wanted some of the very expensive medicine, give a general description of his family of hogs, and the Board was required to supply his demand. It cost close to $20,000 last year to control a disease which affects human beings not at all; it affects only the pocketbooks of a small minority of the people of Florida, the comparatively few who happen to own hogs. Why should the money raised by general taxation be handed out to the swine owner and not to the man who owns a diseased orange grove? If state funds are properly to be expended for private interests, why should it be diverted from the fund specifically raised for the preservation of human health?

When a glandered animal is killed under the authority of the state for the protection of other animals and of human life, why should the $75.00 paid for such slaughtered animal, be taken from the funds of the State Board of Health? Why should it not be taken from the funds of the Department of Agriculture, or by a special fund provided for the purpose?

The Board pays for the Pasteur treatment in indigent cases for the prevention of hydrophobia in human beings and about one-half of the cases occurring in Florida come under the indigent classification. It also distributes free to indigents the Jenner vaccine, the anti-typhoid vaccine, also diphtheria antitoxin.

The State Board of Health, at its annual spring session of 1915 authorized and directed the installation of the system of tuberculosis district nursing, a practical treatment and education in handling this disease, which is designed to take the place of a state sanitarium. The sanitarium system has been found from long experience not to be statewide beneficial in the general treatment of the disease, and the open air treatment under trained instructors is vastly more effective. The new plan of district nursing is a charge upon the funds of the Board.

The legislature of 1915 authorized the Board to undertake a state-wide campaign of education on health matters, by the use of the already famous "health train." Practical visual instruction by expert teachers is to be given in every part of Florida that is reached by railroads, and this method is known to be cheaper and vastly more effective than any other means. This expense will be large, but the results will be worth all the cost.

The Board also has considered it necessary to erect a $20,000 building at Pensacola for laboratory purposes. The Board maintains at five central points in the state laboratories where quick accurate and scientific determinations are made of disease germs through samples of blood submitted from the persons of patients. This work is of incalculable value to the doctors of the state and through them to the people, in diagnosing disease.

The administration of the work of the Board calls for a large aggregate of salaries. The same is true of every institution, mercantile or educational, which requires for its success the services of trained experts and specialists. The specialist is rightly an expensive man, and who is willing to entrust the general health of Florida citizens to any but experts?

From the beginning of its work every expenditure of the Board has been recorded and these records have been preserved. They are open to the inspection of every citizen and taxpayer of the State. Such inspection, intelligently, honestly and fairly made, would disarm long distance criticism, whether it be made for political purposes or from the attitude of the Irishman who didn't know what the law was, but anyway he was "agin it."—Bulletin State Board of Health.

To the Public.

"I feel that I owe the manufacturers of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy a word of gratitude," writes Mrs. T. N. Withorall, Gowanda, N. Y. "When I began taking this medicine I was in great pain and feeling terribly sick, due to an attack of summer complaint. After taking a dose of it I had not long to wait for relief as it benefitted me almost immediately." Obtainable everywhere.

Every man has his field of usefulness, but lots of them are too lazy to climb the fence.
